Extraordinary Amount Ordered for Export.

FREE GOLD IS WIPED OUT.

The Treasury Reserve Invaded Nearly $3,000,000.

Treasury Officials Believe This Invasion Is But Temporary and That a Few Days Will Restore the Depleted Reserve.

WASHINGTON, April 21 .- At the cabine meeting this morning, at which all mem-bers of the cabinet were present with the xception of Secretary Herbert, of the avy department, the financial situation, it is understood, was almost the exclusive opic of discussion. The meeting lasted for two hours and a half and was the longest session of the cabinet since the w administration came into power.

When the treasury department closed ts doors this afternoon the gold reserve f $100,000,000 was invaded to the extent of $2,500,000 to $3,000,000. When the day opened there was in the treasury $185,000 free gold. This amount was increased by gold offers from the west aggregating about $1,250,000. Large withdrawals of gold for shipment from New York cut this down to such an extent that when the cabinet met, Secretary Carlisle found that orders for gold up to that time (about 11 o'clock) had wiped out the free gold and invaded the gold reserve to the extent of $2.55.000

FEELING IN NEW YORK.

The Decreasing of the Reserve Has Caused no Earthquake.

NEW YORK, April 21 .- The upper crust of the hundred million gold reserve is removed, the financial world stood by and witnessed the doing of it; and yet tonight in this financial center no quakings of the earth were felt, and the folks who are The Proclamation Putting it Into Effect most interested are wondering why there has been no crash of worlds nor wreck of spheres. Indeed, some of the financiers are looking into each others' faces and ejaculating as to whether they have been fanatic or uncannily superstitions. The engagements for gold for export from here on the steamers sailing tomorrow and on Tuesday amount to $6,175,000, and from Boston $750,000.

There was much diversity of opinion in the financial content of the content of the the financial community during the day over Secretary Carlisle's statement. In the main judgment was favorable, and this to no small extent because of the statement's ambiguity. On the stock market accumulating "bull rumors" from Washington diverted practically all attention from the secretary's circular attention from the secretary's circular, but the sterling exchange market opened in utter confusion, and this conflicting was a very unusual occurrence. The scare among regular remitters against foreign demand for sterling bills this time proamong regular remitters against foreign demand for sterling bills this time proceeded from bankers doubtful about gold payment for treasury notes and anxious to anticipate their payments were so heavy as to force sterling rates to the highest figure touched since the panic of 1884. Over $5,000,000 in gold were engaged for export by tomorrow's steamer, with the orders unusually widely distributed. In the midst of this turmoil foreign lenders of money called in numerous loans, and these notes being drawn with gold, cash payment in specie in at least one case was demanded and obligated, and not unnaturally, the call money market tightened under withdrawai, and the stock market operators lending the usual assistance money rates were bid up on the exchange. So far as all this result was simply fright it had a reassuring side, as treasury notes presented at the sub-ireasury were promptly redeemed in gold.

ing side, as treasury notes presented at the sub-treasury were promptly redeemed in gold.

There was moreover a clear statement in several quarters of the vexed gold clause in time notes. Older trust companies and many banks which to some extent are lenders on time make positive statements today that they were making no speculation of gold payment. Foreign bankers with one or two trust companies are steadily insisting on the clause and are resisted by the borrowers. Borrowers on call today were able to scenre accommedation early in the day at 5 to 6 per cent. but those who delayed supplying their wants were forced to pay 2 to 12. Posted rates for sterling exahange were raised to 4.88% and 4.90%, and little disposition to draw. The situation improved late in the day and money was in better supply toward the close, and loaned as low as 4 per cent.

According to the sub-treasurers the net loss of gold to the treasury today was $4,600,000, of which all but $20,000 was for export. Secretary Carlisle estimated this morning that he had $885,000 free rold in export. Secretary Carlisie estimated this morning that he had $885,000 free gold in the treasury. If he received none today from sources outside of New York the treasury free gold is all gone and the $100,000,000 reserve reduced to $96,285,000. This is the first time since the redemption of specie payments that the reservables of specie payments that the reserve has been cut into, counting in the subsidiary coin as part of the available funds of the coin as part of the available funds of the treasury.

A difference of opinion exists as to whether subsidary coin should be thus counted. If not, then the reserve has been encroached upon seven times previous to now. Just before the sub-treasury closed this atternoon, it was reported that officials were notified of demands to be made tomorrow for four millions of gold for shipment Tuesday, and there was an additional report, not verified, that two millions more will be taken Monday.

Of late it has been a favorite superstition that if the reserve dropped below the result might be disastrous, not only to the value, but also to the mercantile community, and the fact that the shock has been comparatively slight has caused an easier feeling about the future, although there will doubtless not be any surprise if movements in stocks, as well as in the money and sterling exchange markets, are erratic for some time.

Manager Sherer of the clearing house, said with regard to the gold situation: "I do not think any action necessary; as no artificial restriction that could be placed upon the export of gold would mend matters in the least or check the outflow. We are simply coming to a silver basis in the natural course of events, and if the present mode of financiering continues, we will soon have no gold in the country, but will have plenty of silver."

TOPIC OF CONVERSATION.

New York Bankers Talk of Secretary Car

liste's Statement. NEW YORK, April 21 .- Secretary Carlisle's statement was the general topic of onversation on Wall street this aftertoon. It was not favorably received on the ground that it was felt to be indefinite. Most of the bankers seen expressed themselves as unable to comprehend themselves as unable to comprehend the secretary's intention in reference to treasury notes. J. Edward Simmons, president of the Fourth National bank, said Mr. Carlisie has announced no pol-icy; his words mean nothing so far as a solution of the question is concerned. Some of the foreign exchange dealers are again allowing a premium of % of 1 per cent, to those paying for their remittances in gold.

cent. to those paying for their remittances in gold.

Russell Sage said this morning: '1 believe that if people do not lose their heads we shall weather the storm and that the currency question will eventually be arranged satisfactorily. It is a pity, however, that Secretary Carlisle does not take a bold stand upon the subject and give us an idea what he intends to do.''
